

KEEPING A DISTANCE

An effective way to prevent the spread of illness and infection is to practice social distancing—deliberately increasing the physical space between two or more people.

Germs can spread through coughs and sneezes. To protect yourself and others, please maintain some distance between yourself and those around you.

Thank you for your cooperation.